

Name: Bart Dorsey

Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #3 (Unskippable DVD Advertising): Audiovisual works released on DVD that contain access control measures that interfere with the ability to control private performance, including the ability to skip promotional materials.

Summary:

Disc name: Beauty and the Beast

I would like an exemption for copy protected DVD's because having to sit through the trailers and advertisements EVERY time I watch my legally purchased "Beauty and the Beast" DVD infringes on my right to personal freedom of choice.

My Sony DVD player would not let me skip the trailers and adverts at the beginning of the disc by pushing the "next" button, or the "menu" button. The disc contained several ads for other Disney Movies and DVDs.
